Behold my glowing Stratocaster, and kneel in veneration!

For I am the CHOSEN ONE, High Priest of the mighty Lords Of Rock, come to save the planet from the evils of tepid disco, watery girly-boy-pop, and the vile excrescences of TV talent shows, which are highly corrosive to the soul, and will lead you all to eternal damnation - if only as a result of contributing in some small way to fattening that evil smug bastard Cowell's bank account.

Worry not, for salvation is at hand - support live music, come out to one of the following venues, drink real beer, lots of it, and join us jumping around like a bunch of twats. You know it makes sense.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The above was written under the influence of a substantial quantity of Jack Daniels...
